

A wide-angle photograph of a mountainous region. In the foreground, there's a dense forest of green coniferous trees. Below the forest, a small town or resort area is visible, featuring several buildings and what looks like a ski lift or cable car system. Further back, a large, turquoise-colored lake sits at the base of the mountains. The background is dominated by a range of majestic mountains with their peaks partially covered in snow. The sky is clear and blue.
